To Dept. of Selection
Dear Sirs,

This is to seek new professional challenges and prove that your company is interested in minimum qualifications.

I am looking for more effectiveness in the market, to develop an objective work and generate good results, promoting the growth of the company and my own.

Among my professional characteristics stand out - adaptability, good humor, dynamism, responsibility, zeal, dedication to work and good general relationships.

Since I have my career, I feel comfortable to work as a Data Scientist in any organization, based on acquired experience, I have the facility to deal with adversities, deal with problems and provide solutions, act with an analytical and holistic view of the entire process.

As a Data Scientist, my last job was developing an exploratory analysis project on salary data from the Government of San Francisco, where it was possible to perform descriptive statistics metrics. The project was developed with public data and demonstrated in a personal portfolio that you can confer in the project session in my attached curriculum. I am currently working on a new Machine Learning project.

I am available for a personal interview, for more information about me.

Sincerely,

Eliton Mauro Nachbar
